Using the Tutorials

Hash has tutorials on their website that are helpful as well as some books that they have donated to the class. You may want to use both to do learn how to do the things we will need to do. The books are located on the second to the bottom shelf of the white book shelves.

Using the Tutorial:

You will be watching the tutorials to learn about the program. As you watch the tutorial you will need to do many of the things that the tutorial shows you. However, you will want to stop the movie to do what they want you to do. The tutorial has a control bar at the bottom that you can use to pause the movie when needed. When you first open the program it usually hides the control bar. Let's make the make the window bigger by either clicking on the green "Expand" button in the upper left of the window (see Fig. #1). Or by dragging the bottom right corner of the window out to make the window as large as you need to see the movie controls (see Fig. #2). Now you will be able to control the movie so that you can Pause it at times to work in AM.

Most of the time the tutorial should explain what to do very well. However there may be times that I will have a supplement to the tutorial for you to work from.
